Pam Martin-Wells Wins Old Hickory and Angler Of The Year Title by Larry Morris

Legendary professional angler Pam Martin-Wells claimed her second straight Lady Bass Anglers Association (LBAA) tournament victory today on Tennessee's Old Hickory Lake. But equally important Martin-Wells pulled off a come from behind win in the Angler of the Year race to capture the LBAA's first pro division Angler of the Year (AOY) title.

Martin-Wells of Bainbridge, Georgia only brought three bass to the scales today but they weighed a hefty 9.23 pounds and pumped her two-day total at Old Hickory to 17.63 pounds.

"I've always said I liked tough tournaments," she commented, "for that is when the luck factor is taken out of the equation and I really put my head down and get to it. I pre-fished from daylight until dark and told Steven (husband) this tournament would be similar to Gunter'sville in that you could not sit in any one place and win it. I tried to stay just like I did at Gunter'sville – stay open minded and be versatile."

Martin-Wells calculated that she ran her Legend 69 miles on Old Hickory on day one alone.

Finishing behind Martin-Wells in second was Centre, Alabama's Lisa Johnson who had a two-day total of 15.87 pounds. Rounding out the pro division's "Super Seven" at Old Hickory was Plano, Texas's Cheryl Bowden in third with 15.69; Greenville, Texas' Judith Hart with 15.47 was fourth; Lynda Gessner of Foristell, Missouri was fifth with 13.93, Murchison, Texas resident Pam Ridgle was sixth with 13.54, and Dayton, Tennessee's Jenny Nevans was seventh with 13.11.

Sarah Davis from Livingston,

Louisiana led wire-to-wire to capture her first LBAA co-angler crown. Davis brought her second three-fish limit to the scales to give her a two-day total of 11.51 pounds and the prestigious victory.

"It took a lot of patience," Davis stated, "I threw a lot of baits and most of my short fish were on faster moving baits, so most everything was slow (larger worms and Fluke's). It is awesome to win this! When I first saw these trophies I said I want one of those, and now I have it." Following Davis in the LBAA's Old Hickory co-angler "Super

New National Sponsor and Two Local

The LBAA is proud to welcome on new national sponsor and two new local sponsors to the circuit. Jennifer Sexton of Ameriprise Financial came on board as a national sponsor just days before the Old Hickory tournament. Look for more on Ameriprise Financial in coming weeks on the LBAA website on next months newsletter.

Also coming on board to support the LBAA as local tournament sponsors are Emrooide Me and Hoppy's Lures.

We are very excited at the work the local anglers did to make this event a success and for the efforts they put forth to find our newest nationals sponsor and two new local sponsors. Many thanks go out to Emily Shaffer for bringing on these new sponsors and to Gene and Regina Pierpaoli, for their work in arranging meeting places and the wonderful BBQ meal from their own Buffalo P's.

Look for more information on the new sponsors on the LBAA website and in the spotlight section of an upcoming newsletter.

Seven were: Lebanon, Tennessee’s Diana Montgomery in second with 9.95; Bonnie Ward of Snohomish, Washington was third with 8.23; Alpine, Alabama’s Kim Giddens was fourth with 6.81; Martinsburg, West Virginia’s Shannon Wood was fifth with 6.62; Kim Martin of Clayton, Indiana was sixth with 6.57, and Martha Goodfellow from Simpsonville, South Carolina was seventh with 5.59 pounds.

Judith Hart took big bass awards for the Old Hickory event in the pro division with a bass weighing 3.66 pounds, and Jan Bruner captured the award on the co-angler side of things with a bass that weighed in at 4.66 pounds. In the AOY races, Martin-Wells with her victory today at Old Hickory overtook Kim Bain-Moore to claim the LBAA Pro Division AOY title with 1170 points. Martin-Wells and Bain-Moore went into today’s final day of competition tied for the AOY lead.

“This is totally awesome,” stated a very happy Martin-Wells. “To win this title in the inaugural year of this organization is fantastic. They can never take this away from me – I was the first! It is neat that I now have won AOY in every woman’s circuit that I have competed in. The Good Lord has definitely shined on me!” The LBAA pro division AOY “Super Seven” was Bain-Moore in second with 1140 points and Pam Ridgle followed her in third with 1095. Fourth was Lynda Gessner with 1052, and Gessner was followed in fifth by Emily Shaffer with 1029. Sixth and seventh respectively were Jenny Nevans with 988 and Debbie Kemp with 972 points.

In the co-angler division, Kim Giddens claimed the 2011 LBAA Co-angler of the Year title with 1150 points. “It is pretty amazing as this is my first year fishing with these wonderful ladies,” Giddens said. “When I started into this I felt like I could compete but I never expected to win this.”

The LBAA co-angler of the year Super Seven are as follows: Kim Giddens in first with 1150 points and she was followed by Diana Uebelhack with 1085. Third place was claimed by Bonnie Ward with 1067 and fourth was Martha Goodfellow with 1024. Vicki Henderson took fifth place with 1017 points, and Barbara Harris followed her in sixth with 986 points. Donna Newberry nailed down seventh with 969 points.

Murchison, Texas resident Pam Ridgle nailed down the 2011 LBAA Rookie of the Year award today as she was the highest finishing pro division rookie in all four regular season LBAA events this year. “I’m very pleased and ecstatic to maintain and pull off a win like this,” Ridgle stated. “It was a pretty tough season with all of the mechanical errors I did have, but overall I’m very ecstatic that I did this.”

The LBAA today formally announced that their 2011 Lady Bass Classic will be held on Kentucky Lake October 6-8, 2011. The top 21 anglers from both divisions will compete in this prestigious event.

Classic Qualifiers Recognized

At the conclusion of the Old Hickory Tournament anglers who qualified for the first ever Lady Bass Classic were introduced to the crowd. These anglers represent the top 21 points leaders in both the Professional and Amateur Divisions for the 2011 season.

Each of these anglers will fish for three consecutive days; October 6-8, 2011 on Kentucky Lake. This championship is a no entry fee tournament with all participants walking away with a check.

One angler in each division will earn the honor of being crowned the first Lady Bass Classic Champion.

These forty-two anglers will travel to Kentucky and begin official practice on October 1, 2011. Day one of practice will culminate with a Pro Night at Fisherman's Headquarters where anglers will be greeted by eager fans and various members of the media.

Practice will conclude on Wednesday at 3 PM giving anglers plenty of time to clean up and be ready for the celebration banquet which will begin at 5 PM at the Moors Resort Lodge.

Unlike regular season tournaments, all of the official practice days are anglers only and well as fishing three consecutive days instead of two.

Take off will begin each morning at safe light from The Moors Resort Marina with anglers checking in at 3PM and traveling as a caravan to Fisherman's Headquarters for the daily weigh-ins. It is expected that weigh-ins will begin at around 4 PM.

Day one pairings match up anglers according to their finish in angler of the year points. The two following days will be computer generated random pairings.

Many thanks to the local sponsors of the Lady Bass Classic: The Moors Resort and Marina, Kentucky Lake Tourism and Fisherman's Headquarters.

Amateur Angler Spotlight on Pam Rodden

Pam Rodden of Mesquite Texas grew up fishing around small farm ponds with her parents. Her earliest memories go back to when she was 6 or 7 years old.

Those early experiences, have grown in to a lifetime of fishing. Her first tournament was in 1999 with the Dallas Bass'n Gals where some of her more recent memorable fishing moments have taken place. One that stands out strongly was the year she won big bass and big stringer of the year!

Pam's two favorite lakes are Lake Fork and Lake Sam Rayburn. Two great Texas bass lakes known beyond the state borders for being home to some really big bass.

If you have ever fished with Pam you will know when she is getting ready to set the hook. She goes into this on point stance as the first indication of a bite and once she starts the hook set, it would be wise not to be too close as you will probably end up in the water.

American Receivable Corp and Rural Electric Services Are two organizations that proudly sponsor Pam as she fishes locally with the Dallas Bass'n Gals as well as when she fishes the LBAA on various lakes across the country.

When asked about her thoughts on the LBAA, Pam was quick to say "I see the LBAA getting bigger and better every year."

Inflatable PFD Maintenance Reminders by Martha Goodfellow

As with anything, our inflatable PFD's (Personal Floatation Devices) need to be checked on a regular basis to insure they will perform as they are designed.

On our way back from the Old Hickory tournament, we decided to stop at Bass Pro Shops and buy new CO2 cylinders for our "automatic floatation devices" (PFD's), a.k.a. life jackets. So glad we did... When we got there, the associate found that my CO2 cylinder was unattached and just laying loosely in my vest. Over time, these cylinders can work themselves loose.

If you haven't checked your life jacket lately, now would be a great time to check your life jacket. You can check the booklet that came with your life vest or ask a professional.

If you have an inflatable PFD, make sure it has a full CO2 cylinder and that all status indicators on the inflator are green.

Automatic life jackets have a "bobbin". When it gets wet, it will inflate your life jacket. If you live in a humid climate or if your life jacket has been exposed to a lot of rain or moisture, your life jacket's bobbin could be wearing out, due to the moisture. If your bobbin wears out and is inside one of your boat's compartments, it could inflate itself... Bobbins need to be changed. Check manufacturer's information for how often.

You might also want to consider carrying a spare "re-arming kit".

In the literal sense, performing regular maintenance checks on your PFD's can be a matter of life and death. It is hoped that you never have need for your inflatable PFD to perform.

Harris and Gooch Win LBAA Homesafe Charity Tournament

(Gallatin, TN.) – Local anglers Johnny Harris and Raphus Gooch brought a limit of bass to the scales today weighing 9.58 pounds to claim the victory in today's Lady Bass Anglers Association Homesafe Charity tournament on Old Hickory Lake. Harris and Gooch won $1,000 for their efforts.

"It was a tough day out there," stated Harris. "We caught most of our fish on a swimming jig, and some on some soft plastics. We had seven keepers and culled two fish."

Second place went to the team of Mike Culberson and Jesse Gloaves who were a mere 0.07 ounces behind the winners with 9.51 pounds.

Third place went to Stephen and Tracy Whitehead who weighed in 9.42 pounds. The Whitehead's were also awarded an extra $200 cash incentive for today's tournament as they were the highest finishing team with a female team member.

The tournament's highest finishing team with a child 12 or under as a member was Tim Parker and Peyton Hutcherson. The team of Parker and Hutcherson claimed the $200 cash incentive for that category.

The team of Dave Rigsby and Richard Clemmons who brought a 5.87-pound bass to the scales took big bass of the day award.

Over $1,200 in cash was given to Homesafe Executive Director Sherry Tolli at the conclusion of today's events. Tolli directs the efforts of Homesafe in the counties of Sumner, Wilson, and Robertson.

"This is so cool; we want to thank each and every one of you who participated. This is really going to mean a lot to our program and the women and children that we serve," Tolli stated. Visit them on the World Wide Web at <http://homesafetn.org/services/sumner-county>

Our Passion...Their Future

We are a group of women who wish to band together to reach our shared dream of having a professional tournament trail that...Meets our need to bond with other like minded women; Provides the opportunity for us to earn a reasonable return on our financial investments; Understands where our financial obligations lie; and Allows us to provide our sponsors with a positive return on their investment.

MISSION: To provide women with an opportunity to fish professionally, to grow the sport of bass fishing and to build a program that will allow future generations of young ladies with more opportunities to compete in the sport of bass fishing.
